Budgets of the various fund agencies for 1930 activities have been carefully studied by the budget committee and the 1930 budget recommended to the committee were based largely on trade and labor work during the year.

Last year the fund raised $65,000 but subscriptions during the year drive boosted that figure to more than $74,000.

The 1930 drive will begin on Thursday, May 15, and end on Wednesday, May 21.

Mrs. Rosenberg, in accepting her appointment as territorial director of the women's territorial division, announced a Community Fund headquarters today.

Mrs. Rosenberg will have charge of more than 100 women chairmen with residential solicitation.

To Reach All Homes

In addition to soliciting subscriptions by division workers, the Community Fund committee will name five lieutenants to complete the division.

Following the selection of her lieutenants, Mrs. Rosenberg will call them to a meeting to select aides. Thursday afternoon, captains will meet to choose names of prospective lieutenants. The final meeting of the women's territorial division will be held a week from next Wednesday when the entire division will meet for an instruction conference.

These old [illegible] in the [illegible] and substantially built. Honest workmanship has been placed in them and the construction of each part is as good as that put into the high class residences of today.

Yet these old homes stand idle. Real estate agents will tell you that the property will not move because buyers are looking for modern appearing homes. They demand all the conveniences and comforts of today.

Old Houses Hard To Sell

The old residence, built back in the days of free silver, is hard to sell because [illegible] of style. The sound construction, the well seasoned timbers, and the careful workmanship put into the house is not evident to the casual eye. The virtues of the house are overshadowed by its unhandy design, poorly arranged room layout, and lack of modern fixtures and conveniences.

Progressive realtors all over the nation find out that wide experience in the sale of real estate has proved to instance after instance where the old house was modernized and quickly sold at a profit. The purchaser of property no matter how low the price hesitates to buy an old building and then spend additional money on improvements. He feels that he is not getting a bargain.

Yet he will cheerfully purchase the modernized residence at a price which includes the cost of the improvements and grow over his astuteness.

The realtor's advice is to improve the old property—then sell it. Invariably, he will point out, the residence moves at a profit.

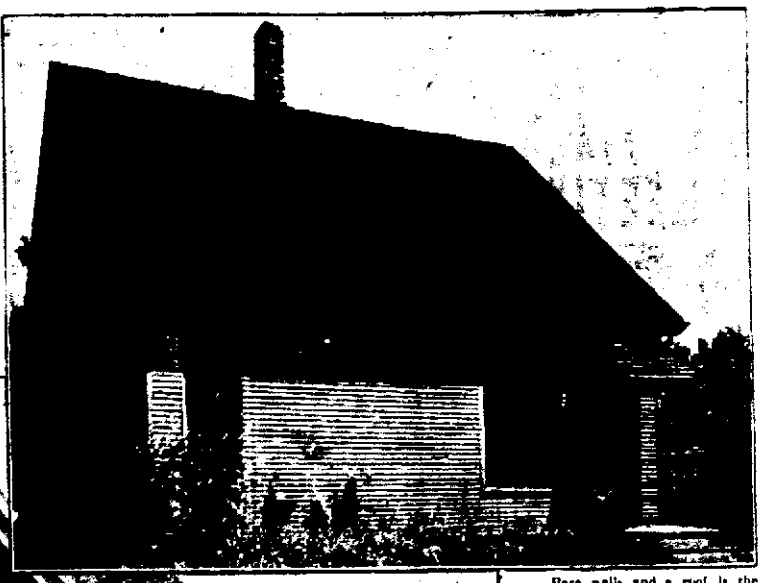
YOU WOULDN'T RECOGNIZE THIS HOME NOW



Bare walls and a roof is the best that can be said for this house. Then came the builder with visions of an attractive, home-like structure. The view to the left is the result.

There is something inviting in the sweep of the roof lines and the well placed dormers in this home. Yet it is the same sturdy, well constructd house illustrated at the top, made modern and up-to-date

BUILDERS SHOW ART IN CHANGING LINES

Bare Walls and Roof Are Transformed Into Residence of Beauty, As Is Shown by Photographs.

IT is a far cry from the old house to the right to the modern home shown below, yet these illustrations show the same house before and after the dwelling had been touched by the spirit of modernization.

It is almost unbelievable that such a smart-looking home could come from a drab, uninteresting house. A study of the pictures, however, show that one is the aftermath of the other.

Graceful Roof Lines.

The roof lines have been entirely changed. The old brick chimney in the center of the house has been torn away as stove heat was superceded by a modern heating plant.

The bare steep slope of the roof has been extended gracefully to cover a trim porch, the roof of which is supported by two pairs of severely plain columns.

A small dormer window pierces the roof to admit light to a staircase while over the main part of the house a gable extends to enlarge the front chamber on the second floor.

Plenty of Windows.

The treatment of the windows is interesting. Where narrow sashes were previously used the opening has been enlarged to permit the use of two pairs of sash, thus assuring abundant sunlight. Quaint wooden blinds flank each window opening and add a touch of distinction.

The narrow clap boards on the side walls have been replaced by broad shingles which aid in giving the dwelling a home-like appearance.

A basement was excavated for the modern heating plant and concrete foundations now support the structure. The basement windows were placed to admit plenty of light into the interior.

The illustrations of the remodeled dwelling do not show the delightful treatment of the interior. Glistening, well-polished hardwood replaced the dingy, time-worn soft wood floors. The electrical fixtures are modern in design and an abundance of electrical outlets are provided in each room. The walls are paneled and tinted in harmonious colors.

A sum in the neighborhood of $2,000 was spent on this modernization program. The results have been entirely satisfactory. The property value has increased to a remarkable extent—in every way this modernization plan has proven to be a wise investment.

Most people don't mind listening to indignant scolding about something if it is sprightly.

THIS FINE HOME BUILT HERE.

This fine new home, erected by D. J. Shelton on the Richland pk., southeast of Marion, is a splendid example of local planning and development. The lumber and mill work were furnished by the H. C. Lawyers Favor Auto License Law, Probate Court Changes

Indorse Proposals at District Meeting Here

Ohio Counties Represented at Session; Attorney Gilbert Bettman and William G. Pickrel, of ..., Address Attorneys at Hotel Harding.

... will ... state's earnest years, the widow ... only the income from a third of the estate and the other two-thirds goes to the children. The new plan is to give the widow absolute title to half of the property where there is but one child and a third where there are two or more children.

Other Changes Later

Another vital change in probate laws that has been under consideration will not be recommended in the present consideration of the committee reported. This proposal would do away with inchoate dowers and permit a husband or wife to deed property without requiring the signature of the other.

The committee has decided that while this change will probably be made eventually, this year is hardly an opportune time for advocating it. Decision to delay recommendation on this question was approved by the regional group attending the meeting Saturday.

The probate law discussions were in charge of Howard L. Barkdull, of Cleveland, chairman of the state association committee mapping out the recodification program.

Judge Robert S. Marx, of Cincinnati, led in discussion of legislative enactments to be recommended for licensing automobile drivers and for compulsory liability insurance for drivers.

He reported that the committee was fully agreed on the license proposal and outlined a plan which was given unanimous approval of the regional group.

The committee has been unable to agree on a definite recommendation for compulsory insurance for automobile drivers, Judge Marx reported. Three plans for the basis of consideration. One, known as the Massachusetts plan, would require insurance for every driver without exception or limitation. Another, the New York plan, would require insurance only after a driver has had one accident.

Favor Third Plan

... taken at the ... to ... that ... plan, only ... the ... favored ... plan.

It is expected that all the state ... program ... reported and acted upon at the organization's annual convention at Cedar Point in July. In the meantime, regional meetings ... to be held to give the committee ... an opportunity to present ... work to the attorneys ... the state to obtain a general expression of views.

Harry L. Hopkins, president of the ... County Bar association, presided over the meeting and afternoon and evening sessions. In the afternoon the program be introduced Charles C. Fichter, dean of the Marion county bar, as toastmaster.

In opening his address, Attorney-General Bettman made a brief reference to his work in the penitentiary ... inquiry, which came to a close only shortly before his visit to Marion. His only comment was regarding the tremendous responsibility shouldered by him and his assistants in preparing their findings.

The attorney generals subject was Government ... a Super-profession." His remarks, in part, were as follows:

"Why give up a fine law practice for the attorney generalship of Ohio? Well, isn't there more satisfaction in serving seven million clients than 70? Obviously, yes. Then why do so many Americans retire from public office? The common answer is, 'because politics is rotten.'

"But the man who is honest knows that he is incorruptible. Politics to him, then, would not be rotten. No, Americans of proven ability avoid public office not because politics is dirty but because politics is difficult. In private endeavor you need only do your job well. In public endeavor you must do that—and also, and this is the more difficult—make the people see that you are doing it well.

Ill Not in Graft

"The zeal it in American public life is not graft, but mediocrity. And how is this to be remedied? By continuing to teach the youth of America that politics is rotten—and an ... to be avoided? Quote the cynics. The true preachment is that politics is the single avenue to government and that government is man's greatest achievement.

"We must not gain capacity ... making government professional. If we find we should use democracy. We must gain capacity for American government by getting men of achieved success in the business and professional life of the country to enter its public service. Let such men devote their matured judgment, their tried and proven capacity, to that most difficult of endeavors—government. Thus politics will be legitimated and made a contest of brains, and government will become what it should be in a democracy—the super-business, the super-profession, of America."

In his address, Pickrel, as president of the state bar association declared that the legal profession of Ohio has attained the highest standard in history and urged that this position be further advanced by attorneys contributing their talents and training to community service. He said that lawyers are especially fitted for leadership and should give both the state and their home communities the benefit of that equipment.

Service performed by the state bar association and its program for the future were reviewed by Pickrel, who urged those of his profession to ... whole mass of him.

Again Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

...the war against spitting is a crusade of decency . . . join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

The strong arm of the law halts the spitter whose vile and vicious habit menaces his fellow citizens. But for every spitter caught hundreds escape... hundreds who still roll cigars with dirty fingers and spit on the ends! In fact, more than half of all cigars made in this country are made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit!

Certified Cremo protects you against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Your physician has in mind a cigar like Certified Cremo when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof . . . immaculate . . . foil-wrapped . . . Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly was thinking of when he said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

BARN AND LIVESTOCK DESTROYED BY FIRE

Believe Lightning Started Blaze on Milburn Baker Farm at Mt. Victory.

Special To The Star

MT. VICTORY, May 8—A barn and its contents of livestock and farming implements was destroyed by fire [illegible] southeast of here early this morning.

Damage to the building, owned by Milburn Baker, is expected to reach several thousand dollars. Although no definite cause for the blaze could be given, it was believed that the building was struck by lightning.

The fire was discovered at 2 o'clock this morning by the owner. Two horses, sheep, hogs, farm machinery and an automobile were destroyed.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Get rid of halitosis— it may get you fired

What kind of people do employers like to have around them? Certainly not people with halitosis (unpleasant breath). You can't blame a man for firing an employee with halitosis to hire one without it.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. It's impossible for you to know when you are a victim. Don't take the chance. Keep your self continually on the safe and polite side by daily rinsing the mouth with Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors themselves; it is an instant deodorant.

Thousands who used to be unwelcome because of halitosis are now acceptable anywhere. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

"Jacqueline On Her Own"

DRAMATIC STORY OF ACTION, ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE

BY RICHARD STARR

(Copyright 1930, by the Author)

...ing on all right. I've been looking ... for you ever since. I went to ... Miram—that's where I got your ... name from. But they told me you ... had left, and they didn't seem to know ... where you had gone."

"But why have you been looking for me, Mr. Rogers?"

"I'll tell you," replied Rogers mysteriously.

He went to a cupboard and produced from a box a sealed envelope. This he placed in the girl's lap.

"What is it, please? Is it for me?"

"All for you," returned P. Gee.

Jacqueline opened the envelope. It ... contained nine one-pound treasury notes.

"It's for you," said Rogers, joyfully, while he and his wife stood by and beamed on her. "You won it on the Warwickshire handicap."

"But I didn't," Jacqueline demurred. "I backed Prinkipo, and I know Prinkipo was beaten."

"I told you that Naughty Boy would win and Naughty Boy did win. Well, I put four pounds of your money on Prinkipo, and one pound on Naughty Boy. Of course, if Prinkipo had won I should have been in a sort of a hole. Naughty Boy won at 8 to 1. That makes nine pounds for you, which you have there."

Jacqueline hid her face in her hands and sobbed, greatly to the alarm of P. C. Rogers and his wife. The relief was too much for her.

"Oh, you are so good," she sobbed. "You are so good. I was almost desperate for want of a little money. I am sorry to be so silly, but I have been ill, and I am not very strong yet."

P. C. Rogers blinked fiercely and had a little trouble with a lump in his throat. "Yes," he whispered in his wife's ear, "and I guess she hasn't had any too much to eat for some time." Then aloud to Jacqueline: "Now, my dear, put the money away and forget it. Here's a perfectly good tea waiting to be finished and we're all still hungry."

But these were expensive times, and even nine pounds is not a fortune and has a way of shrinking even so much quicker than one had calculated.

True, Jacqueline did not look at this nine pounds as she had looked at the 500 which came to her from Old Dobbin. She had learned her lesson, and she tried to make the small sum last as long as possible.

But the time came when the nine pounds was on its last legs, and the landlady with the ample waistmeasurement and the expression of a dog presented a bill which Jacqueline was unable to meet.

Jacqueline pleaded with her, but even her most wistful smiles made no impression on the heart of the landlady, who pointed out, with what Jacqueline felt was justice, that even landladies must live.

The bill amounted to 27 shillings, ... and Jacqueline's ... were ... for you ever since. I went to ... Miram—that's where I got your ... name from. But they told me you ... had left, and they didn't seem to know ... where you had gone."

SCHOOL BOARD TO AWARD CONTRACTS

Builder of New Oakland Heights Junior High School To Be Named.

Contracts for the new junior high school at Bellefontaine are expected to be let tonight at the monthly meeting of the city board of education in the office of Superintendent George A. Bowman, at Harding High school. Estimated cost of the structure is $275,000.

Typical bids for the general contract were received by the board, the lowest being that of Hosier Bros. of Tiffin, who bid $185,290. A score of others bid for the electric, plumbing and other contracts.

No Marion firms were low in the bidding on any of the many contracts of items.

In awarding contracts, city boards of education are compelled by law to let contracts to the lowest responsible bidder.

Award of the coal contract for the coming year also is scheduled for tonight's meeting.

Ohio State Professor Speaks to Ministers

Prof. R. B. Teitz, of Ohio State university, addressed the Marion County Ministerial association on "Amusement and Recreation" this morning at City library. Reports of various committees were heard. The devotions were led by the Rev. L. R. Watkins, of LaRue. The closing prayer was offered by the Rev. W. P. Michel, of Waldo. A regular meeting will be held in two weeks.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Installation of officers was held at First Reformed church yesterday morning. Edd B. Hoover, was re-elected and installed as elder. R. L. Anderson, Clarence Finch and Ray Reidenbaugh were installed as deacons. Grover C. Dorts was ordained and installed as a deacon and Clarence Coleman was installed as trustee.

ATTEND GRADUATION

A party of 20 or more Marion friends of the Rev. and Mrs. B. Tyler Gates, of St. Paul's English Lutheran church here, motored to Springfield last night to attend his graduation from Hamma Divinity school. The services were held in the Fourth Lutheran church.

TARIFF COMPLETION SEEN IN FORTNIGHT

Six Points of Disagreement To Come Before Senate This Week.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 5. — With another fortnight, congressional leaders hope to reach the end of their protracted controversy over the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill and send that much disputed measure to the White House.

Six points of disagreement remain to be settled and the senate is to take them up this week after voting upon the Parker supreme court nomination. They are the rates on lumber and silver, the amendment to make export debenture plan permanent, the flexible clause and the tariff commission reorganization provisions.

The amendments of the senate reflecting these points were selected late last week by the house which at the same time accepted amendments fixing the Cuban sugar duty at two cents a pound and placing shingles upon the free list. In voting against the export debenture plan and the senate's flexible provisions amendment the house followed the wishes of President Hoover.

Republican leaders are confident that the departure is now definitely out of the bill and expect that the dispute over the flexible clauses will be worked out in conference by the compromise method.

Study of Naval Treaty Set To Open Wednesday

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 5. — The senate foreign relations committee will begin study on the London naval treaty on Wednesday and after Secretary Stimson has had an opportunity to explain the part in the treaty the naval committee will negotiate its contract.

The foreign relations committee has agreed that it has to wait until next week before taking the oath of secrecy in connection with the work of the Marconi hearings. Those interested in the investigation thought that it would be over with in time to begin study of the treaty next week, but it is expected that the experts will take more time than that to appraise the work of others.

All sessions of senate school are but not attending school in the building are asked to report for new buildings they attend. The school closes Friday, May 9.

MAY WHEAT AT NEW LOW

Declines Result from Drop of Prices on Liverpool Market.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 5—Influenced by ... prices ... wheat prices ... early today to ... May ... a new bottom price ... record for the season. Favorable crop ... reports ... winter ... wheat ... to an advantage to ... the ... of the market. Opening ... ½ ... 1½ ... lower, ... ½ ... 1½ ... lower, and ... ½ ... 1½ ... lower, ... a general sag ... in ... all ... Corn and oats were also easy, with commission ... declines to an equal advance, and subsequently receding a little. Provisions held steady.

Kansas dispatches today reported wheat crops improving steadily, and particular emphasis was given to rains over the week-end all through the southwest section of the state. Meanwhile, Nebraska reports said wheat was showing a good stand and color, with the plants nearly all jointing, and expected to be heading soon. On each ... decline, however, the Chicago market appeared to be receiving considerable buying support, and sellers showed themselves disinclined to become aggressive with the market hovering close to a dollar per bushel level.

News that locust infestation in southern Europe had spread to Roumania attracted notice here, but failed to act as a check on wheat price declines. There were also advices that the amount of wheat on ocean passage had decreased 196,000 bushels. On the other hand world shipments were much larger than a week ago.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Following the path of eggs, butter prices hit a downward trend today, losing two cents. The price range is now 42 to 47 cents a pound.

Strawberries were slightly cheaper this morning as grocers sought to clear out a few remaining quarts from Saturdays' market. The price is between 23 and 30 cents a quart for these berries, while the new berries to be shipped in the middle of this week will probably range between 25 and 35 cents.

New potatoes are a bit cheaper in quantities, selling as low as $1.05 a peck instead of the former $1.25.

BANISH MUSIC?

"PLEASE don't," plead millions of theatregoers.

"Better not," warn wise showmen.

"Sure we will," declare Industrialists who control canned music in the theatres. "The public can learn to like records as well as orchestras. Anyway, that's what they're going to get."

And so the issue is defined: Shall talking pictures be used as an excuse for reducing the theatre to a dehumanized museum (without reduction in admission charges). Or, shall the atmosphere of the theatre be retained and the cause of culture served through a victory for music?

Managers of high-class theatres recognize that real music is essential, and so they continue to provide it.

Others must be shown.

The Music Defense League, organized to voice the public's desire for real music, is approaching 2,500,000 membership. Each vote counts more today than ever before.

If you would like to see music restored to the theatres of your own home town, SIGN AND MAIL THE COUPON BELOW.

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

George Bancroft Plays the Brute

JOE FORZIATI, the construction king, fell in love with a beautiful society matron, and then had to give her up.

You feel terribly sorry and noble about George Bancroft when he realizes that Mary Astor, the woman he loves, really loves the husband whom she is divorcing. "Ladies Love Brutes" at the Palace Sunday and tonight, belies its name.

These brutes can fight to the death almost, return children they stole themselves, and yet the ladies don't love them.

The picture was good, the acting was interesting. George Bancroft was handsome in a big way and Mary Astor was charming. Her voice is good. The story concerns Joe Forziati, many times a millionaire, leader in the construction world, but a trifle de trop socially.

He finally breaks into society as the guest of Mimi Howell, played by Mary Astor. She is divorcing her husband, Frederic March. Forziati falls in love with Mimi and tries to learn the ways of society.

To make her love him, he devises the plan of kidnapping her child for a short time, and then playing the big benefactor by returning him to her. His chauffeur kidnaps the child.

Mimi calls Forziati and promises to marry him if he will bring back Jackie. He goes for Jackie and falls into a trap set for him by Stanley Fields, a crook who hates Forziati. The way in which Forziati frees himself, his own son who has been captured by the gangsters, and the son of Mimi, is a great big fist-fight. All this to find a few hours later that Mimi loves her husband.

Golden Calves at a Premium

LEGS, and some of them not so shapely, play the leading role in "The Golden Calf" tonight and Tuesday at the Marion.

Sue Carol can't act and Jack Mulhall can't make love, and too, he's looking rather puffy under the eyes. But El Brendel can get the laughs, with Marjorie White and Richard Keene keeping up the pace.

A typical effort of [illegible] Mack [illegible] wrestlings, and [illegible] glasses and all, finds that she has the perfect [illegible] her boss is looking for to model in an advertisement he is painting. So she and the girl friend collaborate and Sue Carol emerges as a belle of old Virginia. Jack Mulhall, the artist, falls in love with her and through a series of scenes, finds that she's really Miss Cobb, his former secretary. All that doesn't matter, though, because he's got the old love-sling about her, and the last shot shows them in the lover-like attitude of embracing each other, standing on top of a world made especially for a stage show.

El Brendel gets the laughs every time and when he sings, "A Picture No Artist Can Paint," we guarantee the loud guffaws.
